CALL FOR PAPERS

This year's NABGG 2009 Technology Conference, will provide a creative and viable base to "Sustaining the Geosciences" with new technologies and geoscientists that will enable us to effectively promote the earth sciences.

The Technical Session Committee officially invites you to present a technical presentation or poster at the 2009 NABGG Technical Conference that will be held on the campus of the University of Arkansas in Fayetteville, Arkansas from September 9 – 12, 2009. The Technical sessions will embrace the multi-disciplined nature of the geosciences and provide an opportunity for presenters to share their knowledge and expertise on a variety of geoscience-related topics, such as: geography, geology, geophysics, environmental science, geoscience information technology (GIS), geosciences education, oceanography, planetary science, and career development for geoscientists. Presentations from both the public and private sectors are welcomed. We hope that you are able to help in "Sustaining the Geosciences" by presenting at what promises to be an excellent meeting of geoscientists from across the nation.

Abstract submittal information follows:

- Please submit abstracts for talks and posters to jkvamme@uark.edu in either Microsoft Word or Adobe Acrobat (PDF) format. Small figures may also be included.
